Camp Descriptions

Camp Times

Ages 8-12 9:00am-12:00pm

Ages 13-18 2:00pm-5:00pm

Takedown Master

June 14-17

The "High Crotch" takedown is one of the most high percentage shots in collegiate wrestling and a favorite move of many of the top wrestlers in the country.

During this camp wrestlers will master the high crotch series on their feet, while focusing on setups from multiple wrestling situations. Wrestlers will learn to finish high, finish low, and win the scramble for the takedown. The key to a good offense is mastering your takedown arsenal and this camp will do just that!

Lead Instructors: Melvin Lofton & James King

Low Single System

June 21-24

One of the most popular takedowns in American wrestling is low single. This camp will focus on building a system of wrestling around the move perfected by the Oklahoma State Cowboys.

Olympic Silver Medalist Jamill Kelly, a protégé of low single leg originator will teach the campers about proper spacing and setups for their low single leg attacks. Dedicated time will be spent focusing on a variety of finishes and everything will come together during the week leaving campers with an ultimate takedown system to be a champion.

Takedown Defense & Counter Attacks

June 28-July 1

Offense wins matches, but defense wins championships. At this camp our campers will learn how to put points on the board using a solid defensive foundation that will catapult you to the top of the awards stand. Campers will learn proper positioning and techniques of college level wrestlers that will help them develop an impenetrable defense.

Lead Instructor: Jamill Kelly

Intensive Wrestling Camp

July 5-8

This camp is designed to provide the ultimate intensive freestyle wrestling experience. We will focus on proper "match-speed" drilling techniques, and there will also be a heavy emphasis on live freestyle situational and match wrestling. From the beginning of each session until the very end, each wrestler will be challenged to overcome his or her perceived mental and physical limitations to achieve the perfect practice.

Each wrestler will be challenged to intensify his or her practice performance and match preparedness. While the camp will focus on freestyle wrestling, the lessons learned at this camp will transcend any particular style and will have application for each wrestler no matter whether it is folkstyle season, freestyle season or "off" season.

Lead Instructor: Jamill Kelly

Leg Riding

July 12-15

Would you like to learn how to wear your opponent down... and out? No problem, this camp is for you. Scoring the pin will be easier after you learn effective leg riding used by top collegiate wrestlers. Wrestlers will focus on controlling their opponent and applying pressure to score near fall points and secure the pin.

Lead Instructors: Melvin Lofton & James King

Escapes and Reversals

July 19-22

You can't win matches with your face in the mat! Wrestlers will learn a proven system that will give them confidence that they can escape from any situation on the mat. When this camp is over with no one will be able to hold you down!

Lead Instructors: Melvin Lofton & James King

Highlight Throws, Hips & Tricks

July 26-29

You're down by 4 points or more. What do you do? If you answered, "shoot a single leg," this camp is for you. Of course, if you're just a fan of the big move, this camp is also for you. We will teach proven techniques to educate wrestlers on how to use their lower body and torso to execute high amplitude, exciting wrestling moves. Moves such as the hip toss, head lock, body lock, lateral drop, and cement mixer (among others) will become part of each wrestler's repertoire at the end of this camp. This camp will no doubt be exciting, empowering and most of all . . . FUN!

Lead Instructors: Melvin Lofton & James King

Cradles, Turns & Pins

August 2-5

Looking to improve your mat wrestling skills? This camp is for you. We will focus exclusively on high percentage turning techniques such as the cradle series - learn to hit it from just about anywhere; the spiral ride - a staple at the collegiate level; and the turk and tilt series - who knew scoring back points could be so easy. Again, the focus at Dynamite is to teach techniques that are proven at the collegiate level. Each wrestler will come away from this camp having improved their confidence from top position.

Lead Instructors: Melvin Lofton & James King
